Dear Harold:

With regards to your letter of 16 May 1969, may I make the following observations:

1. I do not have any further information at this time concerning Fisher's experiments; however, I shall endeavor to find out more details. I will let you know immediately if I am successful.
2. I would prefer that you not quote me directly or even indirectly insofar as my statement concerning Fisher and Federal grants is concerned. I think that you can safely make the statement, attributing it to "informed sources".
3. With regard to grant applications presently pending, submitted by Fisher to the Federal government, I do not know of a specific list or compilation. However, I feel quite confident in saying that you could safely make such a statement without fear of being contradicted.

Harold, I would very much appreciate whatever specific and detailed information you have regarding any remarks that Fisher makes (or has made) concerning me. While I shall not breach your confidence, it is nevertheless most important for me to fully know the nature and scope of the attack being made upon me.

I wish you the best of luck with your book. I can only hope that it receives wide-spread interest and coverage. Nothing would please me more than to find out that your optimistic feelings are correct and that there is no true and continuing reason for me to be pessimistic as I am.

With kind regards.

Sincerely,

Cyril H. Wecht, M.D., J.D.
